PUNCHBOWL RESIDENTS TURNED OUT OF HOMES

FAMILIES IN NEED ASK FOR AID

Occupants of Homes for Forty Years, Driven Out, Appeal for Help

According to Mrs. C. H. Jordan of the Associated Charities, more than fifty families have been "homeless" by the recent sale of the Punchbowl lots and although the government has given those who were unable to purchase preference rights until September 15 to move, the new owners of the lots have given the order to get out and have already begun the destruction of the old cottages which were formerly occupied by these tenants.

All through the past week, the work of destruction and reconstruction has been going on while the old tenants, some of whom have occupied the land for many years, have been evicted and have been forced to seek aid of A. de Spina Canavaro, Portuguese consul, and the Associated Charities in helping them find new homes within their means.

The cottages on Punchbowl, left standing that are for rent and the new ones being erected by the recent purchasers of the lots have been placed out of the reach of the evicted residents it is said, owing to the increase in rent. In some instances the rents have been doubled while in all instances, they have increased two or three dollars.

The new cottages rent for twenty or twenty-five dollars a month, said Mrs. Jordan while discussing the situation this morning. "Such a price is away out of reach of these families, some of whom have occupied their old homes for many years."

"Not only are the new cottages high-priced but the old shacks which formerly rented for eight and ten dollars a month and were not worth that, have had their rents raised to ten and twelve dollars a month. Several families whose rents we have had to pay in the past owing to their impoverished circumstances have had their rents doubled and the Associated Charities is unable to meet this increase."

"All morning, 10:15, we have received

JAPANESE AVIATOR HERE; WILL TEMPT FATE OVER CITY

Sadaichi Doi in Home-Made
Biplane Says He Will Soar
Over Honolulu

Sadaichi Doi, Japan's first aviator, has come to Honolulu and will make several flights here. He is now preparing to dare the perils of the air in a flight over the city within a few days.

Sadaichi Doi arrived here from San Francisco on the Pacific Mail liner China last Friday and is now stopping at one of the Japanese hotels. After his flight in Honolulu he will proceed to Japan to make exhibition flights at various points there.

Eleven years ago Doi landed in San Francisco, a common laborer from the Orient. His early years in the United States were spent in the hardest kind of manual labor. Later with his savings he opened a jewelry and art shop and became prosperous in a modest way.

In the latter part of 1910, chancing to see a big aviation meet in San Francisco, he became fired with ambition to be an aviator, and after watching Ely, Parmelee and others fly, he began to work on a biplane of his own. Starting in May of last year, he completed the flyer in September. His first trial flight was a failure, but he refused to be discouraged and set to work to improve his machine. Since then he has made two successful flights in San Francisco, and he made up his mind to become a professional aviator. His biplane is twenty-eight feet in length from wing to wing, with a propeller six feet and ten inches long. The motor is of 25 horsepower and now ready for flight.

Doi intends to try to fly across the Chosen Channel after reaching Japan, a flight declared to be much harder

W. DUSENBERG BLINDED WHEN BOTTLE BREAKS

Eyeball Cut by Flying Glass,
Will Go to Mainland for Treatment

WILL SAIL WEDNESDAY
TO FIGHT FOR EYESIGHT

Feared One Is Destroyed, and Famous Oculists Will Try
To Save Other

Through the bursting of a soda water bottle which he was attempting to open at Haleiwa yesterday, Walter Dusenberg, a prominent young stock broker, probably lost one eye and may be entirely blinded. In an effort to save his eyesight, he will sail on the Mongolia Wednesday for San Francisco to submit to such treatment as the famous oculists of that city may prescribe. Dr. William G. Rogers and a trained nurse will accompany him on the trip.

With a party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Dusenberg, their little son, and Mrs. Alexander Dusenberg, Walter Dusenberg arrived at the Haleiwa Hotel shortly before noon yesterday. They planned to eat their lunch on the beach at Waihalua Bay. The boy of the party asked for a bottle of soda water and attempted to open it when his Uncle Walter intervened, remarking that he would open it, as it might explode and put his nephew's eye out.

He struck the bottle on a stone to remove the cap, when it exploded and a fragment of glass struck him in the right eye, cutting through the upper lid into the eyeball in a vertical gash three inches long.

Dr. Wood of the Waihalua plantation gave him temporary treatment, and he was then hurried to town to the Queen's Hospital. Here a consultation of Doctors Rogers, Judd, Straub, Walters and Major Kennedy of the army medical corps was held. It is understood that it was at first decided to remove the injured eye, but it was later pointed out that there was one chance in a hundred that if he was hurried to San Francisco, the oculists there, with better equipment, might save the one eye, and could at least make sure of preserving the sight of the other. As a consequence, he will be sent to San Francisco on the Mongolia.

WINDJAMMERS FROM ATLANTIC COME NO MORE

Sale of Nuuanu Marks End of Shipping Industry Covering Fifty Years

STEAM POWER DRIVES
OUT SAILING PACKETS

Bark Foohing Suey Has Made
Last Trip with Brewer
Line

The arrival of the American bark Nuuanu at Honolulu on July 25, after a disastrous voyage from New York, covering a period of 348 days, during which time the vessel was twice well-nigh wrecked through a series of encounters with gales and tempestuous seas in the vicinity of Cape Horn, represents the final call at Honolulu of a sailing vessel in the former lucrative trade between Boston and New York and the Hawaiian Islands.

With the sale of the Nuuanu some days ago to Captain Barneson, the veteran shipowner of the Pacific Coast, passes out of existence what for a half century has been familiarly known as the Brewer line.

The sole remaining vessel, the American bark Foohing Suey, which sailed May 15 from the port of Mahukona with a full cargo of sugar destined for Delaware Breakwater, is said on good authority to have made her last trip from the East Coast of the United States to the Islands.

Passing of Interest.
The passing of the Brewer line of sailing packets, which for several decades have plied between Boston, New York and the Islands, bringing shipments of general merchandise and returning with full shipments of sugar supplied through the Sugar Factors Company, is a matter of much historical interest to all who have had to do with the shipping in these Islands.

The final withdrawal of the windjammers, which at one time comprised a fleet of a half dozen fast clipper ships and barks, plainly tells the story of the prowess of steam over sail. A flood of recollections were recalled by old-time shipping men today when definite information was received at the agency of T. H. Davies & Co. to the effect that the Brewer Line of sailing packets was no more.

Many here recall the more or less regular visits of such vessels as the Amy Turner, the Martha Davis, the Helen Brewer and Tillie Starbuck, the two latter vessels leaving their bones in old Neptune's domain. For several years the Nuuanu and the Foohing Suey represented the last survivors of an unequal fight between the sailer and the large and faster steam freighter.

40 Years in Service.
Captain Walter Lyman Josselyn, the veteran skipper in the bark Nuuanu now awaiting orders at this port, has been with the Brewer line for nearly forty years.

During his employment with Brewer & Co., he said he went into almost

NO PLANS YET FOR RECEIVING SECRETARY KNOX

Until some definite information as to the date of Secretary Knox's arrival in Honolulu and the length of his stay is received, the preparations for his reception and entertainment while in this city are held in suspense. That he will receive an entertainment elaborate and on a scale worthy the respect due the high official he holds, is the assurance given today by Governor Frear.

Secretary Wood of the Chamber of Commerce, which has volunteered its assistance in the preparations, probably will be called to conference tomorrow or Wednesday with the Governor, Secretary E. A. Mott-Smith, who is expected to return tomorrow morning, and others actively interested in the affair.

Following the visit of Knox two more programs will be definitely completed, one for the reception of Secretary of the Interior Fisher, who is expected here in about two weeks, and the other for Ambassador Bryce of Great Britain, news of whose coming was received here this morning. In the latter instance Governor Frear will take an especially active part, as he is personally acquainted with the great English diplomat and has been entertained at the latter's home in Washington.

New Army Law Ousts Wood Hits At Soldiers

GENERAL LEONARD WOOD, CHIEF OF STAFF OF ARMY

Travel Pay of Enlisted Men Cut —Sweeping Change in Organization

With the army appropriation bill for approximately $80,000,000 safely signed by the President, the entire military organization of Oahu is keenly interested in further details that will give the privations of the act. There are several revolutionary changes in the organization of the army, which, when the bill was last heard from, were still incorporated in it, and these are of far more interest to the army as a whole than any personal controversy between the President and Congress over the affairs of General Wood, which is understood has ended with the resignation of General Wood out of office.

LABOR SUNDAY TO BE OBSERVED WITH MEETING FOR WORKERS

Dr. Goodspeed Will Speak on the Subject, "The True Aristocracy"

Labor Sunday will be celebrated at the Bijou Theater next Sunday evening by a monster meeting for workingmen to which an invitation has been extended by the Christian extension committee to every one in the city, particularly the workingman to attend.

The Rev. Frank Goodspeed will preach and the Royal Hawaiian band will furnish the music at the meeting which is to begin at seven p. m. sharp with a sacred concert to be rendered by the Royal Hawaiian band.

"The True Aristocracy" is the subject which has been chosen by the Presbyterian pastor as the topic for

STAND CHILDREN IN CORNER; WHEN ARE BAD, SAYS JUDGE

Monsarrat Opposes Whipping and Instructs Parents as to Proper Method

Don't spank them or tie them up, but make the children stand in the corner, when they misbehave. All other corrective methods are cruel or ineffective, according to Judge Monsarrat who made the recommendation in regard to training the young mind into the right path this morning to Tagawa, a Japanese, arrested yesterday afternoon charged with assault and battery.

his sermon. It is a summing up of present conditions and aims to point out that in the real aristocracy, the only dividing line is that of character; that money has nothing to do with the bounding of aristocracy, but that the true aristocracy is made up of those whose characters and aims are higher and superior than those of their fellows.

Detailed arrangements for the meeting have been made by Paul Super in answer to the national custom of observing the first Sunday in September as Labor Sunday and having special services for the day as such.

Special effort will be made to secure the attendance of the workingman for whom the service is expressly arranged and an invitation to every workingman in the city to attend, has been extended.

According to the evidence, Kaga-awa's two children had a propensity for fighting, consequently he tied their arms and hands together and then fastened them to two trees in order to prevent further hostilities.

"Tying children up to keep them in order is putting them on a level with four-footed beasts," said Judge Monsarrat while fining the defendant $1 and costs. "Putting them in a corner with their faces to the wall is far more effective."

And the father departed, promising to take the judge's advice as soon as he reached home.

CANAL BILL TO HAGUE TRIBUNAL

British Newspapers Make Bitter
Attack On Measure As It Has Passed Congress

LONDON, Eng., Aug. 26.—The newspapers of all shades of political opinion unite in condemning the Panama Canal toll bill as it passed Congress. They declare that it is in direct contravention of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, violates treaty rights in British ships, and can not be tolerated. It is said that an appeal to The Hague tribunal is certain.

BERLIN, Ger., Aug. 26.—Kaiser Wilhelm is painfully ill with muscular rheumatism.

DARROW MUST STAND TRIAL

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 26.—Clarence Darrow will probably have to stand trial on the second grand jury indictment for alleged bribery, although on the first, charging complicity in the attempt to bribe Venetian George N. Lockwood, he was declared not guilty. Darrow's petition to dismiss the second count on the indictment, charging bribery of Juror Robert F. Bain, was refused today by Judge Horton, to the surprise of most of those in court when the petition was returned denied. Juror Bain was the first of the jurymen sworn, and the prosecution claims a strong case against Darrow on this count.

GENERAL DEFICIENCY BILL PASSED AND SIGNED

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 26.—The general deficiency bill was signed today.

The general deficiency bill has carried the provision for the disposal at auction of the Schofield military reservation, water rights on a long-term lease, but this was dropped last Saturday and the bill passed without it. The leasing of the water rights is therefore undisposed of and will come up at the next session of Congress.

Create New Forest Reserves Withdrawing 18,733 Acres

Majority of Land Set Apart on Molokai and Maui Not Government Tracts

Two new forest reserves and an additional acreage for the one already established in the Waianae Valley of Oahu, were decided upon at the meeting this morning of the Board of Commissioners of Agriculture and Forestry, which was attended by Governor Frear.

With only one exception the recommendations of Ralph Hosmer, superintendent of forestry, were accepted, that exception consisting merely of a few minor alterations in boundaries on the Molokai reservation.

The reservations, one on Maui, and one on Molokai, together with the addition to the Waianae-ka'i reservation, set aside a total of 51,145 acres for forestry purposes, and remove about 18,733 acres from the home-steading area of the Territory.

One of the boundary changes made in the original plans for the Molokai reservation was at the suggestion of Mr. Vincent, of the firm of Vincent and Bowen, who appeared in person to protest to the inclusion of certain pasture lands owned by them. The change in the boundary was so made as to exclude the strip which that firm desires to retain for grazing. R. H. Hitchcock, deputy sheriff on Molokai and who represented the Meyers Brothers, also protested against the inclusion of a tract of that company's grazing land. It is understood that according to law private lands cannot be so included unless with the owner's consent. Governor Frear recommended however, that the boundary proposed by the Board be established, but it is understood this cannot be done unless Meyers Brothers consent to it.

The Kula forest reserve, on Maui, contains a tract of 6075 acres lying off the western slope of Mount Haleakala, between a line drawn along the slope at an elevation of approximately 5000 feet and the crest of the mountain extending from, and including the land of Waikoa to the southern extension of the main ridge.

It is made up of both government and privately owned lands. The former, 5069 acres, constitutes 82 per cent of the total area. None of the government is now under lease. Included in the reserve is the Polipoli Spring, the only permanent source of water on the southern end of Mt. Haleakala.

One of the objects underlying the creation of the reserve is to establish a forest cover on the area adjacent to this spring, for notwithstanding the fact that water is now brought to the district by the Kula pipe line, Polipoli must always remain a locally important source of supply.

"Along with getting trees to grow on land that can better be used for forest than for any other purpose," says Superintendent Ralph Hosmer, in his recommendations to the Board of Commissioners of Agriculture and Forestry, "it is obvious that any measures that will tend to increase the flow of such a spring as Polipoli are seriously to be considered."

The new forest reserve on Molokai contains an area of approximately 44,674 acres, of which 12,263 acres, or 30 per cent of the whole, belongs to the Territorial government. Of the
